FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

As we gather to reflect on the 5th Sunday of Lent (Year C), today's readings invite us into a profound encounter with God's mercy and the transformative power of repentance.

The First Reading from Isaiah 43:16-21 speaks of God doing a "new thing," urging us to forget the past and embrace a future filled with hope and renewal. This message resonates deeply during Lent, a season designed for introspection and spiritual growth.

The Psalm response (Psalm 126) encapsulates this theme, expressing joy and gratitude for the wonders God has performed. We are reminded that even in moments of despair, God invites us to experience joy through His salvation. The imagery of sowing and reaping suggests that through our struggles and efforts, we cultivate the seeds of new life and transformation.

In the Second Reading (Philippians 3:8-14), St. Paul echoes this call to move forward, emphasizing the importance of leaving behind worldly attachments to pursue the higher calling of Christ. This personal commitment enables us to let go of past failures and embrace a life driven by faith.

Finally, the Gospel reading from John 8:1-11 provides a poignant narrative of mercy in action. Jesus's response to the woman caught in adultery exemplifies God's unconditional love and forgiveness, challenging us to extend that same grace to ourselves and others.

As we reflect on these messages, let's open our hearts to the "new thing" God is doing in our lives, allowing His mercy to guide our Lenten journey toward renewal and reconciliation.

DE EL ESCRITORIO DEL PASTOR

Al reunirnos para reflexionar sobre el 5.º Domingo de Cuaresma (Año C), las lecturas de hoy nos invitan a un encuentro profundo con la misericordia de Dios y el poder transformador del arrepentimiento.

La primera lectura, de Isaías 43:16-21, habla de Dios haciendo algo nuevo, instándonos a olvidar el pasado y abrazar un futuro lleno de esperanza y renovación. Este mensaje resuena profundamente durante la Cuaresma, un tiempo diseñado para la introspección y el crecimiento espiritual.

La respuesta del Salmo (Salmo 126) resume este tema, expresando alegría y gratitud por las maravillas que Dios ha realizado. Se nos recuerda que incluso en momentos de desesperación, Dios nos invita a experimentar la alegría a través de su salvación. La imagen de sembrar y cosechar sugiere que, a través de nuestras luchas y esfuerzos, cultivamos las semillas de nueva vida y transformación.

En la segunda lectura (Filipenses 3:8-14), San Pablo hace eco de este llamado a seguir adelante, enfatizando la importancia de dejar atrás los apegos mundanos para perseguir la vocación superior de Cristo. Este compromiso personal nos permite dejar atrás los fracasos del pasado y abrazar una vida impulsada por la fe.

Finalmente, el Evangelio de Juan 8:1-11 ofrece una conmovedora narración de la misericordia en acción. La respuesta de Jesús a la mujer sorprendida en adulterio ejemplifica el amor y el perdón incondicionales de Dios, y nos anima a extender esa misma gracia a nosotros mismos y a los demás.

Al reflexionar sobre estos mensajes, abramos nuestros corazones a la "novedad" que Dios está obrando en nuestras vidas, permitiendo que su misericordia guíe nuestro camino cuaresmal hacia la renovación y la reconciliación.

P. Denizil

It can bring feelings of sadness, anger, and confusion. In times of loss, being surrounded by those who understand can provide comfort, guidance, and peace of mind. If you feel called to help create a spiritually safe space of healing and support please contact the office.
